Good afternoon-

After consultation with the BOPC, the decision has been made to limit the number of trainees per ship to 1. This decision is due to the present concerns for limiting personnel to the potential exposure to COVID-19. There will be no exceptions to this policy.

If there is a particular job that one of you should need, the trainee that is furthest along in the program will have priority if several of you are attempting to ride it as well. Also, I expect the usual level of professional cooperation that all of you have afforded each other up to this point.

As a matter of clarification, the trainees in Puget Sound are not beached (this is directly from their commission). They are continuing to train but under a similar policy as above. This is a great example of not buying into the rumor mill.

Please call me directly if you have questions and we can talk about it.
